Lighting of Tree Opens Yuletide, Cantata at 8:30

• CAMPUS CHRISTMAS festivities will begin with the tree lighting by President Cloyd Heck Marvin at 5 p.m. tomorrow on Lisner Terrace. The Glee Clubs, under the direction of Dr. Robert Howe Harmon, will sing Christmas carols around the tree for the enjoyment of the entire faculty and student body.

For the third year the Glee Club will present Hawley's cantata, "The Christ Child," later tomorrow night at Christmas Chapel in Lisner Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

This year the combined clubs will sing carols at Doctors' Hospital on Tuesday, December 26, while the Girls' Club is scheduled to sing at Walter Reed, Forest Glen and Stage Door Canteen.

Soloists for the program will include Pauline Gish, Judy Conklin, Betty Lou Trowbridge and Phyllis White, sopranos; Therese Nye, Vivian Burke and Mary Beth Sheppard, contraltos; John Mitchell, Bill Bischoff and Britt, tenors, and Stuart Roberts and Sol Pargament, basses.

At 8 p.m. just prior to the concert, the University Alumni Association will hold a short business meeting in the Auditorium.

For the first time since 1940 a campus Christmas tree will adorn Lisner Terrace. Sunday afternoon the Engineers' Council decorated the 30-foot spruce tree growing on the campus at the rear of Corcoran Hall. The engineers planned to decorate the tree last week, but were unable to locate the lights.

Faculty Approves Special Program

• WILLIAM Crane Johnstone, Jr., Dean of the School of Government, announced Friday that the faculty has approved a new program of undergraduate majors and courses of study for the Master of Arts degree.

This new program includes eight fields of graduate work—Foreign Affairs, Government and Economic Policy, Public Administration, Business and Government Statistics, Accounting, Business Administration, Public Personnel Administration and Vocational Counseling.

In addition to a special undergraduate major for students interested in specialized training for Government service, four undergraduate majors, Foreign Affairs, Accounting, Business Administration and Statistics has been established.

Dean Johnstone said the new program was in accordance with its policy of providing expanded opportunities for students desiring to enter Government service.

Chairman States Student's View On Sport Return

Informal Five Could Form Nucleus For University Basketball Squad's Re-entry into Southern Conference

By MERVIN LEWIS

Sports Editor and Chairman, Inter-Collegiate Sports Committee

• THE UNIVERSITY SPORTS SITUATION has reached a position where a return to varsity sports would leave us with little to lose and everything to gain. The time is ripe for the University to jump the gun on all District schools, and show them that there is still competitive spirit here and that the University can return to the dominating spot it has held in the local sports world with no qualms about success or failure.

Football will, of course, have to wait until next year, but it is not too late to have a varsity basketball team and not too late to have a good one.

Much credit goes to the University "Informals" for that. Last year, the student team, under private sponsorship, entered District court competition; and against some of the top teams in the District area, both service and amateur teams, they emerged with a season record of 24 games won and eight lost. Five of those eight losses came in the first month of the season. Included in these wins was the YMCA Centennial Tournament Championship and the Second Round Heurich League Championship. The two stellar performers of the team, Barry Kreisberg and Si Wagman, walked off with almost every honor the city sports moguls bestowed upon amateur players. The team also piled up the longest winning streak in the city, copping 15 games in a row before sustaining a defeat.

This year the team officials rounded up the best material in school, and under the supervision of a top-notch coach, whipped it into playing shape. Owing to other duties, the coach was unable to devote full time to the team, and as a result the full benefits of his court knowledge were hard to impart to the young and promising freshmen on the ball club. But with the veterans of last year's team, he was able to build a quintet which so far has won three games out of four while losing one by a close score. One of these wins was over a Gallaudet College team, reputedly its best in history, and the difference in the teams was a mere twenty points with the "Informals on the long end.

This surely proves that the material is right here at the school and the excuse that there is no varsity material certainly holds no water.

With a coach who could devote full time to a varsity team, these boys could be developed into a team of which the University could be proud. And the coach is here and itching to develop a top-flight varsity quintet for the University. That coach is "Otts" Zahn, coach of the University's Championship team of 1942, who is at present employed by the government here in the district. He is ready at any time to take up full coaching chores, and will be able to take the promising material available and put out a fine court team.

As far as a schedule goes, the University would have no trouble booking a schedule of ten or 15 games even at this late date. Many teams have only ten or 12 games scheduled and welcome with open arms a game from any college which will offer it one. In addition, there are numerous service teams throughout the East wanting games, not only as a physical stabilizer for the fighting men, but to provide for the servicemen, good entertainment representative of American youth. Many high officials have stated that one of the biggest morale builders in the armed forces is the thought that, even under the mental and physical strain of total war, certain American institutions will not succumb.

As for the student body itself, the committee feels the petition signed by almost two thousand proves without a doubt that the students want varsity athletics. The figure is representative of a cross-section of the student body which typifies the entire student enrollment at the University. Also, most of the signers are day students, those who would come and see a varsity team.

The committee itself is composed of members of the student body who represent large groups of students on campus, such as the Interfraternity Council, the Veterans Club, and the Student Council, which is the voice of the entire University.

All that athletics needs is the go-ahead from the University administration.

Council Increases

• LOIS SMITH, Student Council President, this week reveals three new members: Barbara Carlisle, elected from the School of Pharmacy, George Conrad, School of Engineering, and Bernard Hecht, School of Medicine. As the Law School maintains its own student government, they will not send a representative.

Next Issue, Next Year

• IT IS WITH THE greatest of pleasure that we announce to one and sundry the beginning of an extended Christmas-New Year vacation, beginning Saturday. Since the entire Hatchet staff is leaving for Florida, California and sunny, southern climes, the next issue will not appear until January 9, 1945.

Ready, Able and . . .

• THE BACK-TO-SPORTS movement on campus, which is gaining such momentum, is something we have desired for a long time. We have been waiting a long time for some issue to come up that would move this student body into action. For almost an eternity we have watched student groups who wanted this or that sit around and look forlorn, without doing any more than complain. At long last, we have an aroused student body, an active committee, a well-thought-out and documented set of selling points, and a petition signed by almost 2,000 students. Such an issue must be of vital interest and great concern to all of them in order to achieve results and action that no other single issue has ever yet been able to call forth at this institution.

The Hatchet, too, subscribes to these views. We feel that there could be no better time than the present to return to Varsity Sports. The prestige and following to be gained, the spirit that could be aroused, and the commanding position we would hold in the District sports world overshadow any arguments we have yet heard.

However, the committee has obtained an appointment with President Marvin tomorrow at noon, and it is then that we shall know the Administration's views.

There is only one good argument that we are willing to concede should enter into this issue. That is, can we put a team on the floor that would win, and win or lose, reflect credit upon the University? To this question we have what we feel is the best of all possible answers.

Thursday night, our neighbor and friendly Southern Conference rival, Maryland University, opens its basketball season against Gallaudet College at Ritchie Coliseum. This Gallaudet team, reputedly the very best in their history, is the exact same outfit that lost to our own "Informals" two weeks ago, 29-49. The game was a runaway, with every man on the "Informals" squad getting into the fray.

To our minds, this one game settles the issue even before it has been played. Should Maryland lose, or win by no more than approximately 20 points, then assuredly we have a team that is worthy of representing this University in Southern Conference play. The Old Liners are not the toughest in the Conference, but are representative of the type of competition we would have to meet. Even if Gallaudet should lose by a tremendous margin, the only conclusion that should be drawn must be that the team needs a full-time coach. Their reputation and record are too good to allow for any derogatory inferences.

One way or another, we are ready and able to return to the sports wars. The students are willing, how about the administration?

Orchids

• TO PHI SIGMA KAPPA Fraternity for their most charitable and splendid gesture last Saturday night. Exemplifying the true Christmas spirit in every sense of the word, they threw their frat house open to the entire student body, provided an orchestra, food, drinks and entertainment for the sole purpose of collecting funds to purchase toys for the less fortunate children of Georgetown House. Such a move is characteristic of their group, which has provided campus leaders and outstanding men for generations.

To Phi Sigma Sigma Sorority's pledges, on the humorous and timely skit they offered in winning first place in the Goat Show for the first time in their 20 years on this campus. Up against the most difficult of competition, they came through with a performance that showed the effort and planning that surely must have gone into it; and kept the audience laughing throughout.

And,

Onions

• TO THOSE INDIVIDUALS and organizations that have not as yet turned in the required information, contracts and miscellaneous data needed by the Cherry Tree staff to meet their deadlines. We who have to work against time realize only too well the headaches and difficulties that such carelessness can cause. We offer our sympathies and suggest that support of the Annual by deeds and not words is the only way to insure its continuous publication without another struggle next year.

Ten Years Ago —In the Hatchet

• FIRST OF A SERIES of student radio programs, "The Man Who Built a World" was broadcast over station WMAL. Professor Wood Gray of the history department gave a radio address on "The Background of the American Mind." This was one of a series on The George Washington Radio Forum.

Construction on Strong Hall was to begin in the near future.

Washington's underprivileged were to be aided by a Christmas Food Drive sponsored by the "Hatchet."

S.A.E. was to be host to delegates of the National Convention on December 27, 28, and 29.

Colonial basketballers opened the season with wins over Shenandoah and Randolph-Macon. Scores were 53-27 and 49-14 respectively. Captain Jimmy Howell was leading scorer in the first game with 14 points.

Players picked for the Hatchet's All Fraternity team were Paul Swofford, Tommy O'Brien, Deverne Liddycott, Cope Swanson, and Lee Kemp. Dick Hanley, ousted Northwestern football coach, had received no offers from George Washington as had been rumored.

MacClelland Barclay, world famous beauty expert, was to judge the Cherry Tree's annual beauty contest.

Intramural ping pong had begun, with Chi O winning over Pi Phi and Delta Zeta over Phi Mu in the first game.

Justin Miller, special assistant to the Attorney General and Dean of the Duke University Law School, was speaker at O.D.K.'s recent Banquet. Fifty-one members attended, coming from the various circles over the Eastern District.

REVIEW

• CUE AND CURTAIN'S SECOND play of the season, "Night Must Fall," was presented last Friday evening before almost one thousand drama lovers, and once again Floyd L. Sparks proteges provided a highly enjoyable evening highlighted by amateur talent that approached the professional stage in every respect.

Outstanding interpretations of the highly difficult psychological murderer and his frustrated, introverted would-be girl friend were turned in by Richard Lathrop and Virginia Nalls. Though they were not too accurate in their portrayal of suppressed emotion as they built up to the third act climax, when the plot unfolded and restraint gave way to action, they emoted all over the stage keeping the audience on the edges of their seats and their eyes glued to the stage.

But honors for the evening belong to two of the supporting players. To Lt. Robert Holmes goes the distinction of having presented the finest and most convincing presentation of any actor we have ever been privileged to watch on a University stage. His portrayal of the utterly dull and unimaginative Hubert Laurie was a masterpiece. We can think of no greater compliment than to say that he was so boring, we almost didn't want to go backstage to speak with him.

Equally well done, and as praiseworthy was Cay Knockey's depiction of the bitter, sharp-tongued, hypocritical, Mrs. Bramson. Her transformation to an old, lonely miser was so utterly flawless that we smiled with secret mirth and pity every time she was taken in by the scheming and coniving Danny. Her hysterical attack on finding her home empty, in the third act, showed deep understanding and fine character study that is rare among student thespians.

The remainder of the cast, and "Sparkie" all deserve a great deal of praise and credit for the effort and results that continually bring to the student body such outstanding plays and such excellent talent. DAB.

CAMPUS CARAVAN

An inscription on the tombstone of an army mule named Maggie:

"In memory of Maggie, who in her lifetime kicked one general, four colonels, two majors, ten captains, twenty-four lieutenants, forty-two sergeants, four hundred fifty-seven privates and one bomb."—The Cue Ball

At last Hitler went to Hades. Satan answered his knock and asked him to wait a minute. He returned with a box of matches and a bundle of firewood. He gave both to Hitler and said: "Listen, Adolph, there is a limit to what even I can stand—go start a Hell of your own."—The Avenger.

First Senior: "Busy?"
Second Senior: "You busy?"
First Senior: "No."
Second Senior: "Then let's go to a class."

The camp army cook brought in a plateful of extremely thin slices of bread and butter which rather dismayed his hungry battalion.

"Did you cut these, Sergeant?" asked one.

"Yes, I cut them," came the stern reply.

"Oh," went on the soldier. "All right—I'll shuffle and deal."

Young maid after operation: "Oh doctor, will the scar show?"

And the doctor: "That, my dear, is entirely-up to you."

They met by chance,

They never met again
Don't want to, I'll allow.
They met but once,
'Twas a freight train and a cow.

Latin—It's still used on tombstones because it's a dead language.

Money—The root of most family trees. When better money is made, college students will write home for it.

Inside Track On . . .

Margaret Lynn

• DOING HER BEST TO hide her talents, quiet Margaret Lynn is the current topic of discussion on campus and in Strong Hall where she lives—whenever she's home.

Being editor of the Cherry Tree, president of the Westminster Foundation, treasurer of WAA and working within Sigma Kappa, she has very little time left to be seen long by anyone. Margaret just recently gained recognition in the 1944-45 Who's Who among Students in American Colleges and Universities. As a sophomore she was also voted an outstanding student.

Margaret is majoring in English and will, after 1946, probably be found before a classroom of English students in a local high school, trying to prepare them for the rigors of college as she found them.

She enjoys camping out—likes hiking too. This probably, explains why she keeps her "figger" so trim and always looks so healthy. Fresh air does wonders she says.

This summer Margaret traipsed out to San Francisco for her sister's wedding. She thinks Frisco is not all it's cracked up to be and wonders why they ever built the city up after the fire. She also attended a youth conference in Ohio where students of all denominations gathered to discuss the post-war world.

As a plug, Margaret Lynn thinks she has a fine Cherry Tree staff but maintains the student body should show their appreciation by supporting them more and get more subscriptions.

Margaret likes to take pictures (she has a swell one of Jimmy Huddleston on her bureau in the dorm). You can identify her by the camera always with her. One of her greatest attributes, however, is found in the fact that she enjoys studying, believe it or not.

Always busy but always interested, Margaret works hard and gets a big kick out of it. A great gal, Margaret Lynn.

Vets Beat Sigs, 12-0 In Finale

A SUPERIOR VETERAN football team ended the myth of Sigma Chi's invincibility on Sunday when they whipped the Blue and Gold 12-0 to take the Intramural Grid title.

The hard-hitting lines of both teams kept all offensive play in check in the first half, and it looked like the game would be a repetition of last week's scoreless tie.

The second half was a completely different story. Again and again Chuck Wallace and Tom Haycock ploughed and passed their way through the frat team's defenses for long gains.

The first score came when Kenny Brown made a leaping catch of big Bill Van Sant's 26-yard toss and carried it over for a touchdown. After sparking a long drive across the chalk marks, Haycock passed to Wallace from the Sigma Chi 10 into the end zone for the score.

The losers made one scoring threat that one coming late in the second quarter after Bill Brownrigg sprinted 70 yards to the Veterans' 10. The threat was halted by the whistle ending the first half play.

The hard frost-covered ground was responsible for a number of injuries. Though no one was seriously hurt, Sig Chi lost a valuable man when all-league tackle Dick McCormack sustained a bad hip injury on the second play of the game and was forced to leave. But the sensational line play of substitute Larry Strickland made up ten-fold for McCormack's departure. Playing almost the whole game, Strickland tore through the Vets' forward wall many times to stop the Vets cold.

But as the Sig said after the game, "The best team won today."

The line-up for the game was:

Sigma Chi	Position	Veterans
Dorsey	RE	Broderick
McCormack	G	Coon
O'Rourke	C	Brown
Bowden	LE	Harrison
Cherrier	HB	Haycock
Barnes	HB	Wallace
Price	FB	Van Sant

'Messiah' Offered

ADDING AN extra meeting to its program, the Symphony Club will offer an evening of Christmas music Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Columbian House.

The program will feature the recording of Handel's "Messiah," President Joe Epstein stated, and the entire student body is invited.

Students unable to attend on Friday should see Polly Peterson or Bertie Stamm, chairmen, and make arrangements for convenient hours.

Two points per hour are given by COGS for bandage rolling.

Organizations Plan Review, Teas, Election

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

FORMER University students home for the holidays will be entertained at dinner on Friday, December 29, by the Baptist Student Union. The place of meeting has not yet been determined.

At 8 p.m. on Thursday, January 4, there will be a program at Calvary Baptist Church featuring Glen Clark, author of "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," and Frank Laubauch, author of "The Silent Billions Speak."

PHI PI EPSILON

THREE GIRLS were pledged by Phi Pi Epsilon, foreign service sorority, at a party in Columbian House last Sunday. The new pledges are: Muriel Marcassano, Margaret Williams and Claire Burchill.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

NINETEEN students were elected to membership in the International Students Society last Tuesday. They are: Ernesto Sanneto, Morgan Lormer, Ellen Liska, Jose Duque, Can Lundberg, Oswaldo Lobo, Vera Weisopf, Elenor West, Humberto Martinez, Capt. Jean Mendousse, Isabel Harrison, Florence Williams, Janet Evans, Julian Stern, Eugenie Wyatt, Gloria Tribarren, Jocelyn Flier, Mano Clavell and Lorraine Griggs.

Last night the society held a Christmas dance at International House.

HILLEL FOUNDATION

CULMINATING a fall of tremendous activity the Hillel Councilorship is looking forward to establishing a foundation on campus. Backed by approximately 60 students with a growing interest in Hillel activities, Rabbi Yanow has been investigating the possibility of obtaining outside quarters for the group's activities through B'nai B'rith.

PCA Chief Tells Why Pilots Die

NINETY out of every hundred deaths that occurred among pilots during the last war were attributed to "pilot error," Dr. Ludwig G. Lederer, Chief of the Medical Department, Pennsylvania Central Airlines told his audience last Wednesday, when he spoke on "Medicine in Aviation" in Room 1, Hall of Government, at 8:15 p.m.

"Pilot error," the name given to unexplainable deaths of pilots, included any undetermined default committed by a pilot because of a physical or nervous reaction.

After the "dark ages of medicine," in flying, from 1920-26, when no one was interested in investing in airplanes Dr. David Myers, one of the earliest to conduct experiments in the field of medicine in aviation, made some of the first steps toward analyzing and recording a pilot's physical and mental reactions under blind flying conditions, and other diverse conditions.

Intensified experiments in the 1930's resulted in instituting severe physical tests for future pilots. Other advancements made were new scientific teaching methods such as the use of decompressed air chambers, and a program of oxygen indoctrination.

Today, instead of the old "barnstorm pilot" of the 1920's, we have the scientifically-trained pilot who has been taught to trust the accuracy of a gadget in a plane instead of his own human senses.

Dr. Lederer concluded his talk with the showing of slides which illustrated the various techniques employed in the present-day training of the pilot. Formerly the civilian pilot training program was instituted under government auspices, he said.

Myers Seeks Basketball Players

SLC Lists Delinquent Activities

Clubs Not Filing Lose Recognition After February 1

• FACED WITH LOSS of recognition, 23 organizations have not turned in the official forms to the Student Life Committee. Dr. B. L. Jarman said that the applications must be turned in to Miss Virginia Kirkbride, second floor, Columbian House, before February 1.

The list includes Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society; Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism organization; Student Bar Association, Phi Alpha, Zeta Tau Alpha and Kappa Alpha.

To keep records up-to-date, every two years the Student Life Committee requests every organization on the campus to fill out duplicate forms stating the constitution, the sponsors and membership of the society. These records are the University's sole means of checking the membership of student organizations.

Other organizations which have yet to turn in these forms are: AFA King Obstetrical Society, Aesculapian, Artus, Baptist Student Union, Beaumont Medical Society, Canterbury Club, French Club, International Students Society, Newman Club, Nu Sigma Nu, Phi Alpha Delta, Phi Delta-Delta, Portuguese Club, Sigma Nu, Sigma Rho, Society of Electrical Engineers and the Wesley Club.

Alumni Association Elect New Officers

• DR. CHESTER W. HOLMES has been elected new president of the University's Alumni Association, according to an announcement by Lester A. Smith, new executive secretary. Miss Anne M. Bischoff will serve as treasurer.

The list of vice-presidents as representative alumnus from various schools include the following: Judge Bolton B. Turner, arts and science graduates; Dr. Robert H. Harmon, Medical; C. Oscar Berry, law; Dr. Irving A. Tennyson, pharmacy; William C. Thom, engineering; Dr. Joseph H. Hoe, graduate council; Dr. Lucile M. Herrick, school of education; Dr. William M. Sweet, dental; and Ross P. Poe, school of government.

Cue And Curtain To Cast For Musical Show, "Roberta"

• CASTING FOR actors, dancers, singers, and models will be held on Friday, January 10, at Lisner Auditorium in Studio A, at 8 p.m. for the next major Cue and Curtain production, the musical show, "Roberta," announced Director Floyd L. Sparks, at an executive council meeting last Thursday evening.

"Roberta," a top flight musical of many seasons ago on Broadway, was adapted from a story by Alice Duer Miller; the show, book and lyrics were written by Otto Harbach, and the music was supplied by Jerome Kern.

The musical is scheduled to appear on Friday, March 16, at Lisner Auditorium. Season subscribers are urged to mail their number three stubs to the box office at 21st and H Streets, N.W., as soon as possible, stating their seat preference.

Registration Opens

• PRE-REGISTRATION for both University and Law students, which begins January 15, will continue through January 26.

University registration will be held in the Registrar's Office in Building C from 12 to 7 p. m., Monday through Friday. Law students may register in Dean's Office in Stockton Hall at the same hours.

Dr. John Maktos Speaks to SAM On War Claims

• HOW WILL international claims be settled after the war? An answer to this important question will be given by Dr. John Maktos, leading authority on international law and General Counsel of the American Mexican Claims Commission, at a meeting sponsored by the University Branch of the Society for Advancement of Management on Friday at 8:15 p.m. in Columbian House.

A member of the bars of the District of Columbia and Michigan, Dr. Maktos holds three degrees from Harvard University, including his doctor's. He has been awarded the Carnegie Fellowship in International Law and the Hyman Fellowship in International Law.

Prior to assuming the position of General Counsel of the American Mexican Claims Commission, Dr. Maktos held numerous important positions in the Department of State. As Assistant Legal Advisor to the State Department, he represented the United States in settling the claim of Shufeld against Guatemala, and in numerous

Sports Situation Reaches Climax As President Marvin Holds Forum With 19 Student Representatives

Student Eligibility, Varsity Schedules Being Investigated

BULLETIN

• AT A SPECIAL MEETING with 19 representatives of the student body called by the President of the University last night, William Myers, Director of Physical Education, was instructed to issue a call for all men who wish to play varsity basketball at the University in the event the University has a team. Mr. Myers stated that any man who wishes to play should sign up at the University Gym between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. today, tomorrow, and Thursday.

Myers will also attempt to arrange a schedule for a contemplated University basketball team. He has been instructed to phone members of the Southern Conference to seek the possibility of games, in the event of open dates on their schedules.

The Committee on Eligibility will also check the eligibility of all men who have played with the University Informals and the men who sign up at the Gym office.

President Marvin said that a definite decision as to whether or not the University will have a basketball team this year will be made not later than next Monday.

Johnstone Offers Six New Courses In Government

• WILLIAM C. JOHNSTONE, Jr., Dean of the School of Government, announced the schedule of six new graduate courses offered in accordance with the new School of Government program. Dean Johnstone added that the courses were open to graduate students, whether or not registered for a degree.

Mr. Glendon J. Mowitt, Deputy Administrator for Administrative Management, Office of Price Administration will offer a course in Budgetary Controls of Government Management, Monday at 8:10 p. m. During the past term, Mr. Mowitt has been giving Progress Reporting and Government Management.

A seminar on Postwar Tax Policies, with special lectures by outstanding tax experts, will be directed by Dr. Gerhard Colm on Tuesdays at 8:10 p. m. Dr. Colm will also offer a course on the Institutional Framework of Economic Policy, Thursdays at 8:10 p. m.

Labor Relations will be given by Mr. Otto Beyer, outstanding labor consultant, Mondays at 8:10. Tuesdays at 7:35 p. m., Dr. Edwin W. Davis, recently appointed Director of the University's Counseling Service, will give a course in Techniques of Counseling.

A seminar entitled International Economic Organization will be directed by Dr. Arthur Smithies, who attended the Bretton Woods Financial Conference last summer, Wednesdays at 8:10 p. m.

Dramatists Meet

• NEXT MEETING of Cue and Curtain will be Thursday, 8:15 p.m., in Studio B of Lisner Auditorium. E. W. Bolwell, Professor of American Literature, will speak on "Star Worship."

Editor Lynn Sets Annual Deadlines For January 15

• WITH THE 1945 Cherry Tree going to press February 1, Margaret Lynn, editor, urges all organizations and individuals to cooperate in turning in needed information before January 15.

Candid camera shots of students and the campus may be turned in for consideration to Peggy Jane Switzer, assistant editor, at Strong Hall, or at the staff meeting at 12:15 p. m., next Monday in Building K.

Any organization not yet reported should deliver material to Elaine Smith, organizations editor, at Strong Hall. The organizations which have not turned them in are as follows: Law Review, Alpha Kappa Psi, Chi Upsilon, COGS, All Engineer organizations, Themians, S. A. M., French Club, International Students Society, Phi Delta Delta, Pi Gamma Mu, Alpha Lambda Delta, Pi Delta Upsilon, Mortar and Pestle, Junior Panhellenic Association, Kappa Delta, Phi Alpha, Inter-American Club.

The last group pictures will be taken this week.

Impetus Given to Athletic Petition At Prior Meetings

• AT A MEETING between the chairman of the Inter-Collegiate Athletic Committee and President Cloyd Heck Marvin before the holidays, President Marvin stated that, at the beginning of next semester open forums would be held at the University in order that all pros and cons for the return of sports to the University be aired completely.

He went on to say that at these forums he and the Chairman of the Board of Trustees would be present and that any person wishing to state his or her views were invited to attend.

Encouraged by this progressive viewpoint, the Chairman of the Committee, Mervin Lewis, went ahead with committee plans to enlist the aid and interest of the Alumni officers and University officials in bringing back varsity sports as soon as possible.

First contacting Chester W. Holmes, newly-elected president of the Alumni Association, Lewis put forth the student views to him and found Mr. Holmes actively interested. Mr. Holmes stated that he was vitally concerned with the athletic situation at the University, and that he wished to hear the Administration's viewpoint before coming to any conclusions.

Meeting with John St. Clair Brooks, chairman of the Extra-Curricular Activity Committee of the Board of Trustees, a week later, Lewis again found that alumni of the University are interested in undergraduate ideas which are now prevalent and are greatly impressed by the spirit shown. Mr. Brooks stated that the student points were well-taken and that if the conditions existing were favorable, he would very much like to see Buff and Blue colors on the field of play once more.

Authoritative sources revealed that action over and above the committee has been taken by the University to acquire a coach for the team and a place to play. In addition, the Southern Conference officials have been contacted by letter and their reaction to the University's return to Conference competition has been favorable.

Veterans Receive Invitation To Presidential Inauguration

• TEN MEMBERS of the Veterans Club have been invited to attend the Presidential inauguration at the White House on January 20, Ben Noble, president of the Veterans Club announced.

The invitation was received following the club's third visit to the White House last Tuesday. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was hostess for the evening. A movie, "Hollywood Canteen," was shown in the White House projection room, after which an informal discussion on the veteran's problems in the post-war world was held in the Blue Room with Mrs. Roosevelt.

The invitation to visit the White House was extended by Mrs. Roosevelt in appreciation to the club's asking her to attend their first Anniversary Ball. She had, previous to this time, shown a great interest in the club and the organization as a whole.

Getting Somewhere

LAST NIGHT WE PARTICIPATED in one of the most inspired conferences it has ever been our privilege to attend. Meeting with the President of the University, his advisors on Athletic matters, the Student Council, the Student Life Committee and most of the student leaders on campus we heard for the first time the official viewpoint of the University on the problems confronting the Administration in its effort to reach a decision whether or not to return to Inter-Collegiate Basketball.

The problem was considered from every conceivable angle, the students and the Administration covering every possible point both pro and con. Throughout the entire conference President Marvin acted as arbiter, listening to the arguments and suggestions of the students, and advancing reasons to show why a return to sports might not be advantageous to the University.

After the student committee delivered the much-talked-about petition, the report of the Advisor to the President on Athletics was read. It was most favorable, raising only one question, that of the eligibility of the candidates.

Immediately after that report the President read a special report prepared for him this week on the eligibility of those men who played with the "University Informals" this season. Although he stated that the results were unchecked and the survey only preliminary, frankly the report hit us right between the eyes. Many of the men appeared to be ineligible on the basis of a 2.0 quality point index requirement.

We are in complete agreement with the President on this matter. A student team must be representative of the student body, certain standards must be maintained, and scholastic eligibility should and must be one of the prime requisites for athletes at every University.

Insofar as the other arguments presented are concerned, and they included questions as to our ability to continue once we do return, travel restrictions and the proposed draft of 4-F's, we believe that they cloud the issue and do not get to the core of the problem. The approach last night was as if this were a unique problem applying only to this University. Certainly every University in this country now engaging in sports has considered these same problems. If they could see their way clear to reaching an affirmative decision, then only internal problems should decide the issue.

Voluntary Censorship

EVER SINCE THE FIRST ISSUE, when we carried a big spread on the newly-planned University Hospital, not a word has appeared in our columns about this highly important addition to the University's plant.

We feel that this very deliberate policy should be explained, and so we offer the following in the hope that it serves to clear up some of the mystery which has surrounded our actions.

Shortly after the original announcement, a church located within the condemned block, protested vigorously, and raised the issue of eminent domain. They held that the Federal Government could not take property from one public institution, the church, and sell it to another institution, this University. The issue was further muddled with charges of prejudice made by the Negro landholders, lack of sufficient time to move out, and that this University was engaged in a diabolical plot to enlarge its plant at the expense and without concern for its neighbors.

The issue was taken to court, and the Government's action was upheld under the authority contained in the war-time delegation of power made by the Congress to the President.

The issue never should have been that of deciding between the needs of the soul versus the needs of the mind and body. To our minds it has always been a fact that the needs of this city for additional hospital beds and the opportunity to provide an already top-ranking Medical School with the much needed facilities for research, study and practice superceded any argument that it would be difficult to move the physical location of a place of worship.

However, the issue received publicity in all of the downtown papers, and we felt that our coverage would only add coals to an already overheated fire.

We, therefore, adopted a policy of voluntary censorship, in the considered belief that it was a fight between the University, the Government, and out side interests; and not an internal struggle in which our opinion was needed.

"Your girl is rather spoiled isn't she, Johnny?"
"Naw, it's just the perfume she uses."

Ten Years Ago —In the Hatchet

AFTER BEATING LYNCHBURG 50 to 20, the Colonials basketballers lost to Indiana and Drake. Pick-off plays had been the downfall of the Buff 'n Blue, Indiana nosed out the Colonials 45 to 41. Jimmy Howell and Hal Keisel starred in defeat.

Tuffy Leemans and Harry Deming had been placed on their All-Opponents team by the West Virginia football team.

Len Walsh, line coach, had left the University to work for the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Chicago.

Alumni were planning a banquet for the football team on January 28.

Roland Logan, assistant football and basketball coach, and University trainer, had been signed by the Boston Red Sox as trainer for the coming baseball season. It was doubtful whether he would return to the University.

Fraternalities were winding up the season with a bang. New Year's parties had left the Greeks in the usual post-New Year's condition.

Editors were planning to dedicate the Cherry Tree to Dean Henry Grattan Doyle.

More than 1,000 persons were fed through the agency of The Hatchet-Student Council Christmas Food Drive.

Kennedy-Warren will be the scene of the annual inter-fraternity pledge prom. Social Chairman Bob Schneider, followed by Maurice Draper, president of the pledge council, will lead the grand march at midnight.

Inside Track On...

... Betty June Karle

A SENIOR WHO LIKES the University and will hate to leave because of the four happy years she spent here: Betty June Karle. She enjoys swimming and horseback riding, complaining that she can't get enough of either because of a busy schedule. Her favorite sport is basketball, and modestly she admits that she played varsity basketball and hockey.

A member of Mortar Board, Phi Gamma Mu, Westminster Foundation, and a "Big Sister" for the second year, Betty June is now skillfully filling the office of president of W.A.A. As breathers, Betty June keeps busy singing second-alto in the Glee Club, now enjoying her fourth year of membership, and as basketball sports manager. Along with these, she maintains a 3.6 average, scholastically, to keep her four year scholarship, won while at Tech High School. Recently chosen as an outstanding member of the senior class, Betty June was selected for Who's Who among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Betty June is majoring in Sociology and plans to continue study for a Masters Degree preferably at Columbia University. Later, she would like to do social work, and write—using her social work experiences as a basis.

Although hailing from New York State, after nine years in Washington, Betty June considers herself a native. Easy to please with no pet peeves, this miss picks strawberry ice cream as her pet food. Although she won't commit herself on "the man she would like to be alone with on a desert island," Betty June admits she is a Redskin rooter, and religiously reads the comics, enjoying "Bo" and "Jenny Dare" the most.

Proposed $3,000,000 University Hospital Contractor To Begin Demolition

ARCHITECT'S PLAN FOR THE NEW UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL. Pictured above is the proposed drawing for the $3,000,000 hospital and medical center to be located at Washington Circle. According to the contracts signed last week, wrecking should begin January 29, at which time all buildings are to be vacated. As the sixth addition to the campus buildings, the modernistic six-story structure will give to Washington a 400-bed hospital, made possible by a grant of $2,700,000 from the Federal Works Agency. Construction is to be done by Tompkins Company of Washington and New York. Architects are Waldron Faulkner and Slocum Kingsbury.

Washington Circle Named Site for Six-Story Building

By DICK GENERELLY

● CONTRACT HAS BEEN signed with Tompkins Company, contractors of Washington and New York, for the construction of the University's new $3,000,000 hospital and medical school. Wrecking of old buildings on the site is scheduled to begin within the next few weeks following the clearance of the property by a condemnation jury. Last details of property purchase and adequate housing arrangements for former owners should be completed by January 29.

The Federal Works Agency has allotted $2,700,000 for property and construction of the new hospital, which will belong to the Government for five years and will be administered by the Public Buildings Administration. The University will hold an option for its purchase after the five-year period.

The University will equip and furnish the hospital at an estimated cost of $300,000, and supplement it by a new $750,000 medical school and a $300,000 nurses' home. The hospital and medical school will represent the sixth addition to campus buildings under the expansion program begun by the University five years ago.

No definite time has been set for completion of the new institution. According to PBA Commissioner W. E. Reynolds, time will depend largely on the progress of the war and the availability of materials.

The new medical center will occupy the whole square south of Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., bordering Washington Circle, 22nd, 23rd and I Streets. Six stories in height, the hospital will have its main entrance on 23rd Street, N. W. between Pennsylvania Avenue and I Street.

The ambulance entrance will be on 23rd and I Streets. There will be another back entrance to the hospital on 22nd Street, and a large parking lot for doctors' cars along 23rd Street.

Patients' rooms and wards will be located in the center and southern sections of the building. Along the Pennsylvania Avenue front, there will be dispensaries on the first and second floors, and operating suites and services on the third and fourth floors.

Solariums and roof gardens will be located on the fourth floor fronting Pennsylvania Avenue as well as on some other sections. In addition, facilities will be provided for colored patients.

Architects for the new medical center are Waldron Faulkner and Slocum Kingsbury, who will be assisted by the University's architect, Joseph Toomey, and PBA experts P. L. Hein, engineer advisor in charge of the emergency operations unit, and N. P. Thompson, architect.

The University's School of Medicine, rated today by the American Medical Society as a "Class A" medical college, dates back to 1825 when it was formed under the leadership of Dr. Thomas Sewall.

Under Secretary Makes Statement

Courtesy The Times-Herald
Joseph C. Grew

● JOSEPH H. GREW, newly appointed Under Secretary of State, and honorary alumnus of the University, in a message to the student body, urged that they use the intellectual training they are now obtaining, in whatever field of endeavor they have chosen, whether it be the humanities, science, or some profession, to study and form opinions about questions of vital concern to our country now.

"Do not be satisfied with glib phrases or second-hand analyses and comments, read for yourselves the Atlantic Charter, the Dumbarton Oaks proposals, and the other official statements of policy," admonished the new Under Secretary and former Ambassador to Japan for almost ten years, from 1932 to 1941.

Careful study, discussion, and application of principles to occurring events by our citizens will give the needed support to the government "to carry out an effective foreign policy," concluded Mr. Grew in his message.

Joseph C. Grew, whose new appointment as Under Secretary of State puts him in a strategic position in forming foreign policy, was born in Boston, was educated at Harvard where he received his A. B. degree, and then began his diplomatic career as clerk to the consulate general, Cairo, Egypt.

Rapid progress was made by the budding diplomat, and during his career, he has served in a great many of the European capitals, including St. Petersburg, Vienna, and Berlin where he was Counselor of the Embassy and Charge d'Affairs at the time of our break of diplomatic relations with Austria-Hungary, before our entry into the first World War.

Mr. Grew has also had much experience with international peace plans through his service as American Secretary to the International Secretariat of the Peace Conference,

Colonials to Remember . . . Price Cops

By JERRY FELD

● BASKETBALL PLAYERS are a dime-a-dozen—that is the ordinary or garden variety kind—but a basketball player of Arnold "Reds" Auerbach's high caliber is very hard to find. Not only a great guy on the court but even a greater guy in every-day life, "Reds" gave his all for his "ole alma mater" when he starred for the University in the 1939 and 1940 seasons.

Starting his career as a ballplayer in his childhood days, Auerbach continually strove for perfection in all the years he played the hardwood game. This perfection was easily apparent to anyone who watched him play in a Colonial uniform. "Reds" was the set shot artist of the squad. From any angle, from any distance, the red-haired boy would shoot and the ball would swish through the hoop for a pair of markers.

Fighting for a place on the 1939 team, "Reds" proved to Bill Rhineheart that he would be a valuable acquisition to the team. With 54 field goals and 12 foul goals to total 120 points for the season, Auerbach ranked number five among the high scorers of the team. But it was not for his shooting that "Reds" was liked by Rhineheart. His floor play was as close to spotless as was seen in a long time. His passing ability was tops and his guarding was even better. Against any team with an especially dangerous man, "Reds" was put on his trail and invariably the man's scoring power would be cut down.

As the star of the 1944 team Arnold was quite naturally the high scorer of the club. His 69 goals coupled with 24 free throws gave him the lead with a total of 162 markers, and won him an honorable mention on the "All-District Team."

After graduation, "Reds" became the basketball coach at Roosevelt High School and gave a plenty good account of himself. It was while coaching the high school boys that "Reds" figured out an indoor obstacle course that the Army uses today.

Courtesy The Times-Herald
"Reds" Auerbach

He has a commission in the Navy now after working his way up through the ranks, and is stationed out at Bethesda Naval Hospital, where he is connected with the Physical Fitness and Rehabilitation Program.

"My biggest thrill," says "Reds," "came from the Hatchet. It was a cartoon published in the paper which really made me look good. And boy, do I love that! But seriously, what I would like now is to see G. W. come back to big-time ball and become a really 'big' school of the country in the world of sports."

Intramural Laurels

● LLOYD PRICE, Sigma Chi's ace speed-boy, will be given the Touchdown Club's annual award tonight as 1944's outstanding Intramural athlete at the University. He is one of four men from local colleges who will receive an award, which consists of a bronze athletic figure mounted on a wooden base.

Normally, the receiver of the award would be chosen by an Intramural Athletic Committee. This year, however, he was selected by William Myers and George Lentz of the University Physical Education Department.

The award, they stated, is not based on athletic prowess alone, but on the individual's personality, and his ability as a promoter and an organizer.

Price has been one of the mainstays of Sigma Chi's athletic teams for the past two years, playing on its football, basketball, and bowling teams. A superb football player, he was one of the major reasons for Sigma Chi's spotless record in gridiron league play this season.

Steady and calm, rarely getting excited on the field of play, he carried his athletic ability from the gridiron to the basketball courts and bowling alleys.

Spectacular as a Sigma Chi half-back, he specialized in long off-tackle jaunts and deep booming kicks. The frat team's unbelievable defensive record of being unscored upon during regular season play and having only two first downs chalked against them came, in large measure, from his kicking, which kept opponents mired deep in their own territory: where wide-open football was an impossibility.

The award last year was copped by Stan Levin, who played with independent teams on the campus.

Out Of The Basket

By MERVIN LEWIS

● DURING CHRISTMAS A FEW MEMBERS of the University Informals went to New York to see the calibre of the teams which were playing at Madison Square Garden this year in the doubleheaders staged there. After seeing these clubs, we were more convinced than ever that the University could put out a quintet which would come close to beating almost any team which had played there. Aside from a few teams, such as St. John's, Kentucky, and possibly New York University, the court teams were very mediocre. There was no team which had less than seven or eight freshmen, and usually these freshmen were the mainstays of the team.

The biggest surprise to all of us, though, was the Hamline College team. This team, coming from a school with a male enrollment of only 95 students, came up to the Garden and knocked one of the topflight New York City College teams . . . this from a school with not even one hundred male students.

A University basketball team would have as its nucleus five men who have either played varsity ball at the University, or have played one or two years in local court tournaments. These men combined with the promising young freshmen would form a team which, if it plays enough games, will go straight to the Gardens for the National Championship Tournament, and I wouldn't be at all surprised if it took that championship without too much trouble.

Only having a team will prove whether I am biting off more than I can chew. I hope somebody calls my bluff and tries to make me eat these predictions.

Mural Basketball On Way Up

While a varsity basketball team remains a distinct possibility, the Physical Education Department is lining up an Intramural Basketball League, which shapes up as being the best that ever held forth at the University. It is a credit to "Bill" Meyers, Director of Athletics, that he has enlarged the Intramural program in accordance with the increase in the enrollment at the school. Only six teams competed last year, and one game lost in the league meant that a team was out of the championship play. This year, with eight teams playing, the schedule has been enlarged to a point where each team will play fifteen games and stand a better chance of coming out on top of the league, even though they drop a few games here and there.

It is interesting to note that this University is one of the few schools with such a hot Intramural Basketball program. Most schools have only four and five teams competing while here there are eight. Intramural sports have been in the background for a long time, but the war has given them a great impetus, and the advantages of this type of sports are finally coming into full view. With many schools cutting out freshmen teams, Intramurals will offer coaches an opportunity to pick up a few good ballplayers, who feeling that they aren't good enough to play varsity ball, choke up when they try for a team. In Intramural play they show all their good points and their errors, and once convinced that the faults can be corrected they might turn into good college athletes.

It is even more important to this school, for after the war, the Intramurals may have built up a nice backlog of promising athletes for the University coaches to pick from.

Short Shots Around Campus

Congratulations to Lloyd Price on winning the Touchdown Club Award . . . A few members of the Informals who had received offers from other colleges were convinced to stick around school in the hope that a varsity basketball team will come back to the school next semester . . . Phi Alpha Fraternity's Intramural basketball team loaded with veterans from last year's team, but many are leaving for the service at the end of the semester . . . Pharmacy School looks like the pre-season choice for the trophy, with four members of last year's championship Bombers on the team . . . Reno Continetti, former University football player, received letter in football at Maryland University last week.

Mural Court Teams Open; Eight Teams Will Play

● INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL bows in Thursday night at the University Gym, when four of the seven teams entered in the league square off in two matches at 7:30 p. m.

The league setup this season calls for eight teams, though only seven teams have so far entered. The reasons the limited number of teams are typical war-time ones—lack of officials, lack of time to play the games, and the lack of equipment and space.

The seven teams so far entered are Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Alpha and Sigma Chi, representing the fraternal organizations, and the Medical School Navy Trainees, the Pharmacy students, and the Veterans Club, representing the independent groups on campus.

The season will run through March, with two games being played each Monday, Thursday and Friday nights. Each team will play about 15 games.

The Athletic Department has also made arrangements for the team leading the league to play the outstanding intramural team from Maryland University, Catholic University, or Georgetown University, every two weeks.

There will be no separate interfraternity tournament. The fraternity teams that play in the "Mural league" will be judged separately and the winner will be awarded a trophy.

The winner of the intramural trophy and every member of the winning team will receive an individual award of a certificate of merit.

'Laddie' Richwein Home on Discharge

● UNIVERSITY SPORT fans received a pleasant surprise on Friday, when Ted Reichwein, key man on the University baseball and basketball teams of the 1942 season, walked into the Student Club.

Ted, recently discharged from the Marine Corps, announced his intention of enrolling at the University next semester, probably under the "G. I. Bill of Rights."

Former Varsity Grid Player In Spaghetti Bowl Tilt

● PRIVATE BOB "Chumba" Leonetti, ex-University tackle and champion eater at the training table, got mixed up with more food last Monday when he played in the Spaghetti Bowl Game in Florence, Italy, before 25,000 G.I's.

Chumba, after playing on the National High School Championship Team at Mt. Carmel, Pennsylvania, by the University football coach, William Rhinehart. Despite the fact that he was only 17 years old at the time, he stood well over six feet and tipped the scales at 245 pounds.

When he left here, he was fast developing into a good tackle. This latest recognition of his football prowess shows what a good man the University lost when he entered the Armed Forces.

Maktos Speaks

claims of the United States against Turkey.

Until the war, he was chairman of the Interdepartmental Visa Review Committee, whose function was to pass on the admission of aliens into the United States. For several years, Dr. Maktos has been Professor of International Law at Columbus University.

In his talk Friday night, Dr. Maktos will describe the various methods which have been used in the past to settle international disputes, and will outline the leading methods which are being proposed for handling such disputes after the war.

Training Begins For Boxing; Lack Of Conditioning Found

● FINAL INTENSIVE drills are underway in the gym as preparation for the long awaited boxing tournament, under the tutelage of George "Doc" Lentz, University trainer. The tourney proper is slated to get under way sometime late in the spring semester, around the end of April.

"I find the greatest fault," said "Doc," "in the lack of conditioning—both in the boys' wind and in the strength of their arms. But I guess what the kids lack in experience, they will make up by their spirit and enthusiasm. Their youth, as a whole, is a big thing in their training because they seem to have no trouble in grasping the fundamentals of boxing."

With this in mind, Lentz plans to hold a few staging matches this week in order to cut down the number of tournament boxers, which now is about 50, so that he can ready them into final shape for elimination tourney and championship bouts.

To go right along with these bouts he plans to schedule exercises designed to correct the prevalent lack of conditioning. By running the kids around the gym in two-minute stretches, he plans to build up their wind reserve. Special arm exercises will be given to the boys to strengthen their arms and prevent them from becoming arm-weary when they box. Heavyweights will use the 16-ounce gloves, middle and light-heavyweights the 12-ounce, and the lightweights the eight-ounce gloves.

As usual, there will be preliminary matches to discover the best boxers in each weight class. For the championship events, there will be about 10 bouts, with the winners of the bouts getting gold gloves. The boxer judged to be the most outstanding in the tournament will receive a trophy. As yet the judges for the matches have not been announced.

Vets Club Loses In Final Fray, 19-0

● SNOWED UNDER by a trio of touchdowns, the Veterans Club lost a post-season football game to the Catholic University Intramural Champions three weeks ago 19-0. In a game played at Catholic University.

The Vets were completely surprised by the uniformed team that came out to meet them on the gridiron. When the game started the Vets found that the C. U. boys had another surprise in store for them in the person of little Gene Sklarz, former Varsity basketball player at the school, and passer extraordinary. The men from C. U. ran and passed the Buffmen dizzy, and only the final gun saved the Vets from more scores by their opponents.
